MOVING ON SPEND FATHER'S DAY APART AS MOVING TRUCKS PULL IN. & MOVING TRUCKS PULL IN.

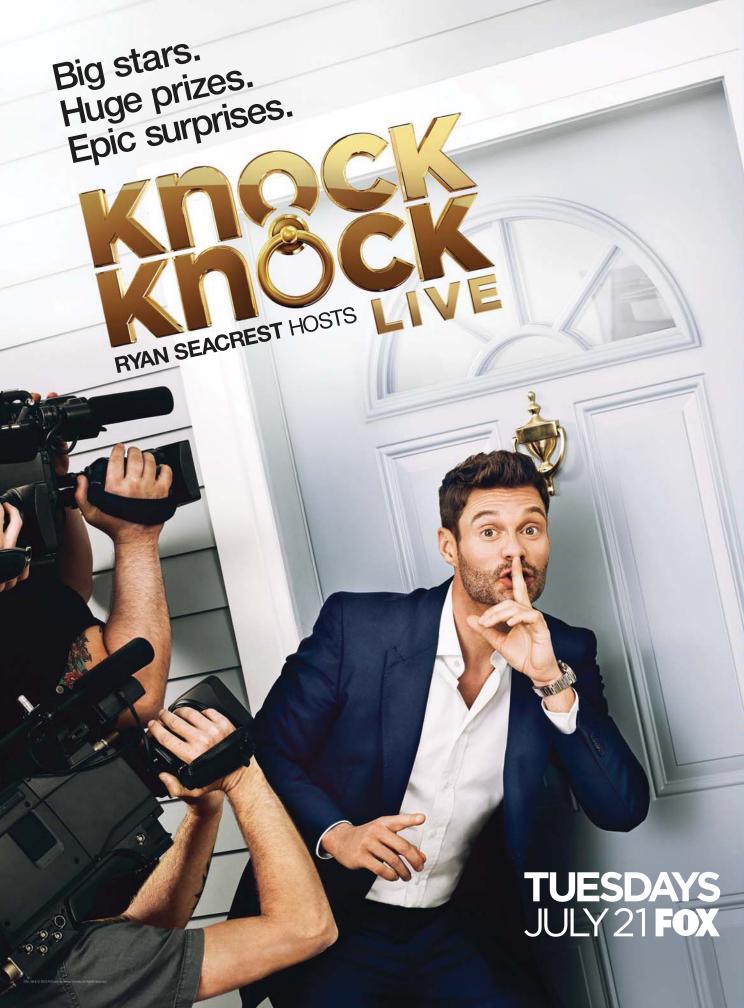

T can't have been a happy Father's Day weekend at the Ben Affleck–Jennifer Garner residence. While the couple have been busy ducking rumors about their impending divorce, they were apart on the holiday and moving vans were spotted outside their $17.5 million Pacific Palisades mansion, which only serves to make the official line that everything is "fine" hard to believe.

On Saturday, June 20 — eight days before their 10th wedding anniversary — trucks pulled up and burly workers began carrying out dozens of boxes. The explanation? That items were being removed prior to a renovation. "But it's way more likely that Ben and Jennifer had sorted out their belongings and were splitting them up," says an inside source. "The house is enormous. If they were remodeling, they could just store furniture elsewhere in the home."

Furniture wasn't the only thing moving that weekend. On Father's Day, Jennifer, 43, flew solo out of LAX to an undisclosed location. "In the past, Jen would never have missed an opportunity to celebrate a family holiday together," a friend of the actress tells Star.

And Ben, 42, has been lying low — rarely spending much time in the family home lately anyway. When in Los Angeles, he tends to stay at the Hotel Bel-Air or at buddy Matt Damon's house. He's also been looking for a place in New York City; as Star recently reported, he actually went apartment hunting in 2014. Although the couple put up a united front on June 14 at an end-of-school party in their backyard for kids Violet, 9, Seraphina, 6, and Sam, 3, that may well have been their last hurrah as a family unit before announcing their official split. "It's only a matter of time," says the source. "They can't keep this up for much longer." **

In this battle for the American Dream, the only thing as good as winning the competition is losing it!

HEN Scott Disick hit New York City on June 8, Kourtney Kardashian was the furthest thing from his mind. Just days after he was too drunk at a Montreal charity event to carry out his meet-and-greet on June 6, the 32-year-old flew south, where his bender continued.

"Scott was doing cocaine and taking Xanax while he was in NYC," a witness publicly reports. "He was out of control." Photos from that evening, showing Scott in his room at the Trump SoHo hotel with his arm around a young brunette and sitting in front of a pile of drugs, were leaked online.

"He had sex with this hot 21-year-old he met at a club. They holed up in his room for days," snitches the source, revealing that Kourtney, 36, actually saw the explosive photos (Star cannot legally reprint them) and vowed to leave him for good. "She's done with him," adds a friend. "She can't let her children see her allowing him to walk all over her. It's a terrible example to set for them, and this time she won't be taking him back."

But Scott, who was spotted partying in Vegas just a week after the affair, doesn't seem concerned, because he knows Kourtney is all bark and no bite when it comes to his infidelity.

Just two weeks ago, Star blew the lid off Scott's January fling with a coed in Scottsdale, Ariz. — a romp that could have led to a pregnancy, since he didn't bother to use protection. And yet Kourtney didn't give him the heave-ho.

But this time, she's telling friends that it's finally over. "Kourtney is prepared to raise the kids alone. She basically feels like she has been anyway," explains the friend. "Living with Scott is like having a fourth child — she actually thinks it would be easier without him."

And that seems to be fine with Scott. "He says he can't live with a woman who is so controlling. The way she looks down on him and his unhealthy lifestyle just spurs him on further," explains the insider, who has no doubt that a custody battle for their three a couples' retreat to Mason, 5, Penelope, 3, and baby Reign, 6 months — is looming.

"Kourtney won't stand for her kids being around drugs and random drunk women," divulges the pal. "This is going to be a very messy breakup." ★

She has a house full of trophies, a hot husband and a new baby boy. Carrie Underwood feels like she has all the answers, so she's doling out unwanted advice to pal Miranda Lambert. Her big tip: Quit country music to save your marriage! "Carrie said taking a year off to have a baby was the best thing for her relationship with Mike," a friend says. "She's been telling Miranda that she should put her own career on pause to keep the home fires burning."But Miranda, whose marriage to fellow country star Blake Shelton is rumored to be on shaky ground, "just rolls her eyes and smiles politely" as Carrie channels Dr. Phil. "Miranda knows Carrie's advice comes from a good place, but her life and marriage aren't remotely similar to Carrie's," explains the source, who adds that Carrie just wants to see her best friend as happy as she is. "It would break her heart if Miranda and Blake split up because they didn't take time to stop and smell the roses."

KATHARINE McPHEE C-List Diva

Katharine McPhee has the voice of an angel...and the attitude of toddler. Sources tell Star that the singer/actress is becoming better known for her diva demands than her talent. "Before a recent performance, she insisted on limos and first-class flights, then changed her plans three times," an insider reveals. "It was a nightmare for organizers." And don't expect the 31-year-old to be gracious once the music starts. "At one show, she complained to the crowd about how hard her travels had been and how they should be grateful she even came at all!" adds the source. "She's awfully came at all!" adds the source. "She's awfully bratty for a girl whose big achievement is losing American Idol. Her voice is the only nice thing about her." Yeesh!

FALLING STARS

Margot Robbie is a 10 by almost anyone's standards, but Hollywood execs are telling the stunning actress that she needs to drop 20 lbs. if she wants to make it to the A-list. "She's been working out like a fiend but has been told she should lose a lot more," explains a friend, adding that Margot's beau — and rumored fiancé! — Tom Ackerley balked at the idea. "When he heard that she 'needed' to lose weight, he was in complete shock." The 24-year-old Aussie, who admits she gets "miserable" if she doesn't indulge in burgers and beer, certainly didn't look overweight in new promo shots for Suicide Squad and is trying not to let the pressure get to her. "The whole notion that she's fat is ridiculous," adds the insider. "She's gorgeous." We agree! ★

IRELAND'S BIZARRE BRUISES

Ireland Baldwin's life is just one mystery after another. Not only is the troubled teen back in rehab for unspecified "emotional trauma," but it seems that she's endured some shocking physical pain as well. Ireland was recently spotted with multiple bruises on her face, reportedly the result of a violent mugging by three men on the not-so-mean streets of Malibu on June 15. But is there more to the story?

"Her friends can't understand why she hasn't gone to the police," says a source close to Alec Baldwin and Kim Basinger's 19-year-old daughter. "Wouldn't that be the first thing you would do? It seems like she's hiding something."

Whatever the circumstances surrounding the dust-up, the incident has only made her already fragile emotional state even more stressed. "She's trying to get her life together, and this happens," says a worried friend. "This is the last thing Ireland needed right now." ★

TALLULAH'S BOOZY RELAPSE

Friends fear Tallulah Willis is spiraling out of control as she has flung herself back into the Hollywood party scene. Star previously reported that the youngest daughter of Demi Moore and Bruce Willis checked into Arizona rehab clinic The Meadows last July for cocaine and alcohol abuse, but on June 9 a witness caught the 21-year-old downing cocktails at the Roxy Theater in L.A. "Tallulah was with her friends, including Emma Roberts, who was bringing her drinks all night long," reports the spy. "Tallulah did not look sober at all. She was sweating, disheveled and running around the venue like a child on the loose. It was sad to see her in that state." Dr. Damon Raskin, medical director at renowned rehab facility Cliffside Malibu, said that Tallulah needs a new crew if she's serious about her sobriety. "At clubs, the temptation to drink is just too high, and one drink turns into many," said Dr. Raskin. "The smartest thing for Tallulah's recovery is to distance herself from people who drink heavily and to stay away from the party scene." **

Duchess Kate's PARENT TRAP

Three months ago, Carole and Michael Middleton were headed for divorce, but come June 21, they'll celebrate their 35th wedding anniversary — and insiders say Duchess Kate is the reason! The couple's "stormy relationship" left Kate "dreading that her parents would split, like Prince William's mom and dad," says a source, so the Duke and Duchess, both 33, devised a plan to mend the troubled marriage: rekindle the fire with a couples retreat to Wood Farm, a romantic cottage on the Queen's Sandringham Estate. "Kate set the mood by having their first night catered — including plenty of champagne," says the insider. And it worked! Carole, 60, and Mike, 65, "are in a much better place and make time for date nights." Dare we say they all lived happily ever after? *

Rihanna's BAD-NEWS BOYFRIFND

HINGS are quickly heating up between Rihanna, 27, and Real Madrid soccer star Karim Benzema, but sources tell Star the singer might want to take a look into her new beau's shady past. Back in 2010, the French-born footballer, also 27, was indicted for having sex with an underage prostitute. "Karim didn't deny sleeping with the woman," says the source, "just that he didn't know she was 16 at the time! He could have easily gotten three years in prison, but he lucked out." The charges were dropped after the girl refused to cooperate with prosecutors. "Karim has so many skeletons in his closet, he makes Chris Brown look like a Boy Scout," warns the insider. "Rihanna's really astute when it comes to music, fashion and her career, but she's just hopeless with getting her love life in order."

Britney & Charlie's Breakup

ARLIER this year, when Britney Spears was asked if she could see herself walking down the aisle with boyfriend Charlie Ebersol, she gave a giggle and said, "You never know." Well, now we do! Sources tell Star that the pop singer, 33, and the Notre Dame–educated entrepreneur, 32, have split after eight months together. "Charlie enjoyed spending time with Britney and her boys," dishes an insider. "The truth is, they just didn't have anything in common. It drove Charlie nuts when he wanted to discuss current events, and Britney had no idea what he was talking about!" Since the split, the Las Vegas showstopper has scrubbed every photo of her ex from her Instagram account, letting a new picture — of her snuggling up to a mystery man during a recent trip to her home state — do the talking. "Nothing like Louisiana boys," Britney teased. Oops, she's done it again! *

Shannon & David ROCKY

Shannon Beador, 51, can forgive, but she hasn't been able to forget hubby David Beador's illicit affair with a married woman, since the 50-year-old's mistress is a fellow Orange County housewife! A source tells Star that any progress the two might have made during couples therapy to move past David's indiscretion was dashed when Shannon ran into the woman while shopping at Neiman Marcus in Newport Beach. "They're as distant as they were before," reveals a friend of the Real Housewives of Orange County reality star. "No one would be surprised if they separated sometime this year, because it would take a miracle to save this wrecked marriage." *

After meeting in May at the Cannes Film Festival, the couple have since spent serious quality time canoodling on Thomas' luxury yacht. "He is in a whole other league from her exes," says Paris' pal. thought different, and the fact that he may have cheated has stayed in the back of her mind."

When she first heard the rumors, Jen even considered changing her schedule to stay close to Justin while he was filming in New York, but the source says that Justin was "adamantly against it, because he didn't want the stress of having to deal with her while working on an important project."

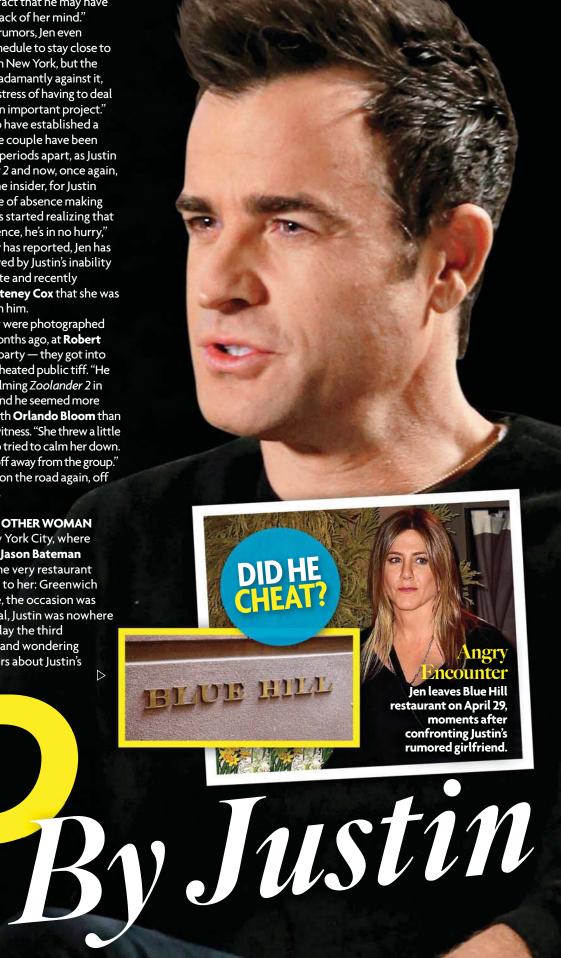

That separation seems to have established a pattern. Ever since then, the couple have been spending increasingly long periods apart, as Justin has been filming Zoolander 2 and now, once again, The Leftovers. According the insider, for Justin at least, it hasn't been a case of absence making the heart grow fonder. "He's started realizing that he's enjoying his independence, he's in no hurry," says the source. And as Star has reported, Jen has become increasingly annoyed by Justin's inability to commit to a wedding date and recently complained to bestie Courteney Cox that she was tired of always fighting with him.

Indeed, the last time they were photographed together — almost three months ago, at Robert Downey Jr.'s 50th-birthday party — they got into what appeared to be a very heated public tiff. "He had just gotten back from filming Zoolander 2 in Italy only two days earlier, and he seemed more interested in hanging out with Orlando Bloom than he did with her," says an eyewitness. "She threw a little fit, and both he and Orlando tried to calm her down. It didn't work. She stormed off away from the group."

Just days later, Justin was on the road again, off to Texas and his HBO series.

CONFRONTING THE OTHER WOMAN

On April 29, Jen was in New York City, where she joined her good friend Jason Bateman and his wife for dinner at the very restaurant where Justin had proposed to her: Greenwich Village's Blue Hill. This time, the occasion was anything but joyful. As usual, Justin was nowhere to be seen, leaving her to play the third wheel to a married couple and wondering more than ever if the rumors about Justin's "other woman" were true.

According to insiders, it was just as Jen was leaving Blue Hill that she ran into none other than the "pretty blonde" woman herself. Finally presented with an opportunity to find out the truth about her and Justin, Jen took advantage.

"She's always said that she knew this would happen, that she'd run into the girl," says a friend of Jen's, "so she immediately asked this blonde if she'd had an affair with Justin. I mean, it was ballsy. This woman was so taken aback, she looked like she was about to die. She just said, 'No, no,' and quickly left."

According to the source, Jen took the woman's eagerness to leave as a sign of guilt, at one point sobbing to a friend, "I knew he'd break my heart." And while she stopped short of bringing up the encounter with Justin, word quickly got back to him in Texas about what she had done.

"Justin was humiliated and embarrassed by Jen's crazy behavior, especially considering the fact that their relationship is hanging by a thread," says the insider. "He couldn't believe that Jen would go so far as to confront the girl about it. They had a huge fight over the phone." In her anger, Jen called off their engagement entirely — a decision Justin agreed with wholeheartedly.

KEEPING UP APPEARANCES

While the wedding has been called off, Jen is still sporting her engagement ring, and insiders say not to expect any kind of announcement from either camp soon. "Jen is still hoping Justin will give her reason to move forward again," explains the source. "She's in total denial. She can't believe that it's come to this. She certainly doesn't want the public to know about their problems, so she's keeping up appearances."

Not that those appearances are many. Pals of Jen's say she rarely leaves her Bel Air, Calif., home these days; when she does, it's usually at night to have dinner with her girlfriends.

For his part, sources close to Justin say that he's been telling friends, "I totally screwed up," by letting his and Jen's relationship to languish for so long. Now he's throwing all of his focus into his work, and he's in no hurry to publicize any trouble with Jen. "He's not stupid," says one of those sources. "He knows that having his name attached to hers has been the single best thing to ever happen to his career."

Among their friends, there seems to be a prevailing opinion that, if Jen and Justin don't fix their problems and tie the knot soon, they'll never make it down the aisle. "It's been three years, and neither of them are getting any younger. If they were really serious about marriage, wouldn't they have done it by now?" laments another insider. "They make a lot of excuses, blaming schedules, a fear of too much publicity — but what do those things really matter when you're serious about spending the rest of your life with someone?" *

MEET THE ORIGINAL BALLERS

NEW SERIES TUESDAYS 10:30/9:30c & ON THE APP

N April, Star exclusively reported how Rob Kardashian, the younger brother of Kourtney, Kim and Khloé, had fallen into an abyss of drugs, alcohol and depression, while hiding from the public after gaining weight at an alarming rate. Then, in late May, a report surfaced that Rob had finally taken back control of his life by entering a 60-day rehab program in a Palm Beach County (Fla.) clinic — but sadly, that turned out to be untrue.

And now, underscoring the falsity of that report, Star's exclusive new photos — showing mountainous Rob, 28, on a latenight food run to a burger chain in the L.A. suburb of Woodland Hills — clearly indicate that his situation remains dire. "Rob looked terrible — and absolutely huge," an eyewitness tells Star. "He had a scraggly beard and was wearing a large T-shirt and baggy shorts, but they seemed to be stretched to their limits. It's shocking how much weight he's put on. He looks like a totally different person from years ago!"

ROCK BOTTOM

Unfortunately, a family friend tells Star, Rob's self-destructive behavior has only worsened over the last few months. "He had been spending some time at a low-budget L.A. hotel, but now he's gone back to crashing at Khloé's Calabasas mansion, holing himself up and refusing to leave," says the friend, who estimates that Rob's weight has skyrocketed to 350 lbs. "He sits alone in a darkened room all day, eating junk food, watching sports or movies and playing video games. Then at night, he'll stay up till all hours playing online poker."

Along with his tastes for alcohol, marijuana and codeine-based sizzurp, as Star has previously reported, "those gambling websites are Rob's newest addiction," the friend adds. "He's just throwing his money away on them. Even Khloé, who's been his most sympathetic sister, has started giving up on him. She's told Rob he needs to shape up or get out."

DANGER SIGNS

Rob's depression is at the center of his vicious cycle of overeating and substance abuse, a health expert tells Star — and there could be serious consequences if he doesn't straighten himself out soon.

"People who are not treating their depression with medication and/or therapy use food, drugs and alcohol to deal with life," says L.A.-based registered dietitian and nutritionist Lisa DeFazio (who has not treated Rob). "His extreme weight gain can lead to diabetes, high blood pressure and heart disease. And abusing codeine cough syrup can lead to death, especially if the drug is mixed with alcohol — both are respiratory depressants.

"Rob is obviously not in a good place.

CROCODILE TEARS?

Rob's mom, Kris Jenner, broke down sobbing about her son's condition on a recent episode of Keeping Up with the Kardashians, saying: "If I don't help him do something drastic, he's going to die!" But a friend of the family tells Star, "Obviously, Kris has to be worried about his health. But while she put on this show of emotion on TV, behind the scenes, her often cold behavior towards Rob has only fueled his problems."

GOING IT ALONE

If Rob is going to straighten himself out, says the friend, it will most likely happen without the type of family support that can make such a positive difference. "Khloé is almost at her wits' end with Rob; he can't stand Kim; and [his mom] Kris devotes more time to keeping the Kardashian brand alive than to his welfare," the friend tells Star. "He has a seriously rough road ahead of him." *

APPETITE FOR DESTRUCTION

HEY could have been any happy family on vacation — they just happened to be Hollywood royalty. Sean Penn, his fiancée, Charlize Theron, and her son, Jackson. strolled the grounds of the glamorous Hôtel du Cap-Eden-Roc, in the South of France, watching the sparkling waves. The day before, the duo had wowed crowds on the Cannes Film Festival red carpet. Next, it was off to Vienna for the Life Ball charity event on May 20, where they seemed to be having a blast.

But something went down after the ball — and it wasn't pretty.

"Charlize refuses to tell anyone the specifics, but they had a fight that left her completely shaken," says an insider. "Sean later blamed alcohol and begged her not to leave him."

It wouldn't be an easy decision.
Sean, 54, and Charlize, 39, had been virtually inseparable since their longtime friendship turned romantic in December 2013. About a year later, reports emerged they got engaged, and there was buzz that the Oscar winners would marry this August. Sean even put his place in Malibu up for sale, ostensibly to move in with Charlize and Jackson, 3.

But Charlize ultimately decided Sean's temper — a trait that has long plagued his relationships — was too explosive to live with, and she left him flat. "When the split came, no one was surprised," says one of Charlize's pals.

A DANGEROUS MAN

Notoriously volatile Sean Penn (seen here in an unprovoked attack against a Los Angeles paparazzo in 2009) has been arrested a total of six times. He once served 33 days in jail for assaulting a photographer on a film set. Yet Charlize "thought she could change him and help him move forward to become a better man," says a source.

AN UNLIKELY MATCH

Despite the talent, charisma and star power both of them have in spades, no two people could be more mismatched than Charlize and Sean. She, tragically, grew up in an abusive home, and at age 16 bore witness as her alcoholic father was shot and killed by her mother in self-defense. "Charlize is extremely sensitive toward physical or verbal abuse; she just won't stand for it," the source says.

Indeed, at a park in Los Angeles recently, Jackson hit another child—and Charlize got very upset. "She immediately removed Jackson from the park," reports an eyewitness. "She told him it was not OK to hit anyone, ever."

That hardly sounds like the kind of woman who would put up with violence-prone Sean. During his roller-coaster marriage to Madonna, from 1984 to 1989, he once allegedly attacked her with a baseball bat, and on another occasion he tied her to a chair and assaulted and degraded her for hours.

SHE HOPED HE'D CHANGED

"Charlize knew about Sean's past yet was convinced he was over that period of his life," reveals the source. Yet more and more she came to see the dark side of Sean, who was also married to actress Robin Wright for 14 tumultuous years. "It got to the point where she didn't trust him around her son anymore," the source says. "For his sake as well as her own, she pulled the plug on the relationship."

Upon returning from Europe, Charlize insisted that Sean vacate her Hollywood home. He begrudgingly obliged, hastily taking his Malibu pad off the market. "Charlize is a strong, mature person, and Sean is a bully who drinks too much and throws tantrums," says the source. "She just couldn't take it anymore."

Whether the pair will reconcile is unknown. They'll have to play nice on the red carpet together at least one more time, when the movie in which he directed her, The Last Face, hits theaters later this year. But one insider says, don't bet on Charlize forgiving Sean anytime soon: "That will probably be the last time we'll see them together."

Carrie Underwood

It's hard to believe that Carrie gave birth to son Isaiah less than four months ago. The country music bombshell, 32, looked fitter than ever at the CMT Awards on June 10.

HOW SHE DID IT: "She's motivated," Carrie's personal trainer, Erin Oprea, tells Star. "We do a lot of boxing, bodyweight training and Tabatas -20 second bursts of exercise followed by 10 seconds of rest for four minutes." Carrie has also returned to a vegan diet and admitted that once she was given the all-clear by the doctor, she wasted no time getting back in the gym. "Looking great is a by-product of feeling great. When you take that little time for yourself to work out, you'll feel better," she explains. One look at her and you can see she must be feeling great!

CONTESTANT BEN HIGGINS' FORMER GIRLFRIEND GIVES STAR THE LOWDOWN AFTER HIS TEXAS HOEDOWN WITH KAITLYN BRISTOWE.

T'S a given that many of the contestants who sign up for The Bachelorette are less interested in finding true love than they are in getting their face on TV...and possibly parlaying that into a showbiz career. That may not be the case for current season favorite Ben Higgins — but his ex-girlfriend Shaelin

Adams warns series star Kaitlyn Bristowe that Ben's intentions (and attentions) might not be totally from the heart.

"Romancing Kaitlyn could be a way for Ben to get back at me," Shaelin, 23, tells Star in an exclusive interview. "We dated for a year and a half before I broke up with him, and soon afterwards, I heard through mutual friends that he signed up for The Bachelorette.

"I was shocked! Ben's very grounded and doesn't seek attention; he never seemed like the type of guy who would want to be on TV. But the timing was fitting — and I wouldn't put it past any guy to use another girl to make their ex jealous."

HIS EX IS IN TEXAS

Ben, 26, and Kaitlyn, 29, heated up the June 15 episode with a romantic date

Cut Loose By His Lover

"Ben's always been very mature and understanding, but I think our breakup was really difficult for him," his exgirlfriend Shaelin Adams tells Star. "He would still tell me he loved me; it was hard for him to let go."

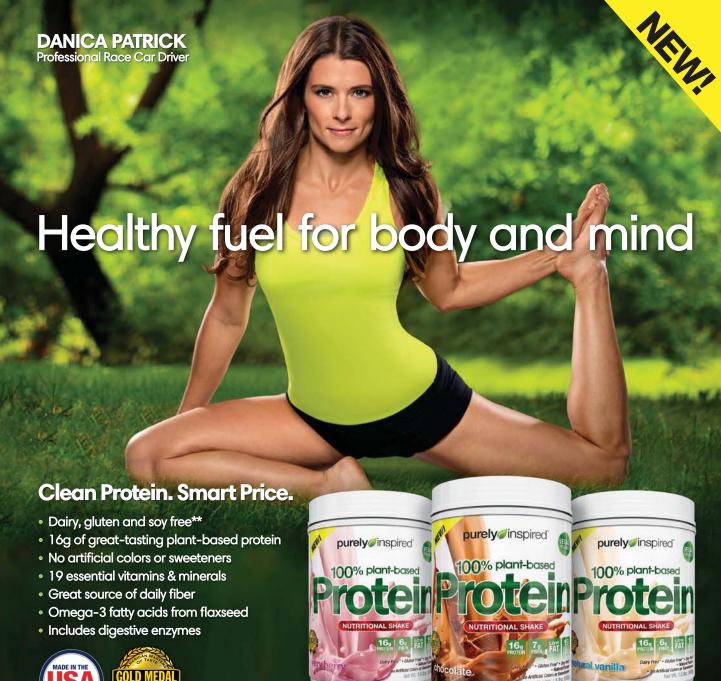

in San Antonio — ironic, since it was Shaelin's move to the Lone Star State that ended her and Ben's relationship. The two Indiana natives were attending Indiana University when she got a business offer in Austin, Texas, and called it quits with her boyfriend.

"Ben offered to give up his life and move with me, but I said no," Shaelin reveals. "I was young, and I wanted to be selfish and not have Ben tied to me. It was pretty cold turkey, and I don't think there was any closure on his side."

Now Ben, a financial services business analyst based in Denver, has been making moves on Kaitlyn — and Shaelin tells Star: "He's not the type, but I hope he hasn't changed and is using that girl for money or fame. That would just disgust me."

SQUAT HOLD

Step 1: Stand with feet hip-width apart. Extend arms up to frame the ears and draw shoulder blades together. Turn palms to face each other and draw to relax the upper traps and shoulders.

Step 2: Deeply bend both knees, shift hips back and down until thighs are close to parallel with the ground. Maintain knees behind toes, chest up and chin parallel to the ground. Avoid shrugging.

Step 3: Hold for 30 seconds to one minute. Aim to complete three sets, resting in between.

SECOND POSITION

Step 1: Stand with feet more than hip-width apart. Turn toes out and deeply bend both knees until thighs are close to parallel with the floor. Step 2: Extend arms up to frame the ears. Turn palms to face each other, draw shoulder blades together and engage the core. Continue to press knees outward and keep chest lifted. Step 3: Hold for 30 seconds. Aim to complete three sets, resting in between.

NUTRITION TIP STAY HYDRATED

Lying out, playing sports or cocktailing in the hot sun can be incredibly dehydrating. Once your body gets dehydrated, it's hard to feel 100 percent. In order to avoid the unwelcome headache, stock up on coconut water. This refreshing beverage tastes delicious and keeps you hydrated throughout the day. It replaces the electrolytes lost in the heat and gives the body a natural energy boost.

Star ENTERTAIN Quantity Melissa Rycroft

HE'S the brunette beauty from The Bachelor who busted out on Dancing with the Stars, coming in third in 2009 and then taking home the Mirrorball trophy on the All-Stars competition in 2012. Now Melissa Rycroft, 32 — along with her husband, Tye Strickland, and their kids, Ava, 4, and Beckett, 14 months — is on the road with DWTS fan-favorites, including Peta Murgatroyd and latest winner Rumer Willis for DWTS Live's The Perfect Ten Tour. She spoke to Star about the 10-week tour and life on the road.

You have a strained knee; what happened? In Saratoga Springs [N.Y.],

In Saratoga Springs [N.Y.], toward the very end of the show, there's a move ironically called the death roll. I was getting flung around by my partner, and we just misjudged where the steps were, and I rammed right into them. I'm definitely limping, and I am antsy to put my dancing shoes back on. I'll be hosting the show until I get the OK to start dancing again.

What can people expect from the show?

We bring the DWTS ballroom to the fans. There's a lot of classic favorites, new dances; we get fans on the stage. It's a celebration of 10 years of DWTS.

How did you get in shape for the tour?

We practiced nine to 10 hours a day for a week and a half before, so its almost like we beat our bodies up just to get into the routine. In a couple of weeks, I'll probably be falling apart limb by limb! It was intimidating rehearsing with the pros; they move their bodies in ways that are just not natural. I could watch Witney Carson dance all day long, and we got Rumer Willis, and it's really good to watch her get out and dance.

How's life on the road?

I have my husband and kids on a bus. They keep me sane. If I had to go two months without seeing them, it just wouldn't work. But the dancers love having them here — they've made best friends with Rumer already. They put her makeup on every night! *

\rightarrow TED 2

There's a steady supply of cheap, dirty and stupid laughs in this sequel to the 2012 hit from Seth MacFarlane, despite a slow-paced plot that often doesn't go anywhere. Ted, the magical foulmouthed teddy bear voiced by MacFarlane, is still best buddies with childhood friend John (Mark Wahlberg), and he marries his sweetheart, Tami-Lynn (Jessica Barth). But when they try to adopt a child, the state of Massachusetts won't allow it because Ted is not a person. So a lot of the film is devoted to lengthy discussions of just how personhood should be defined. But MacFarlane and his cast (which includes Amanda Seyfried and Morgan Freeman) are game for anything, including one of the grossest sight gags in recent memory. It's shockingly funny at times, if your sense of humor is extremely juvenile.

LONG STORY SHORT: Ridiculous but laugh-out-loud funny.

An enduring symbol of love and devotion.

I don't hear as well as I used to, so now I have to be the "early bird" wherever I go. Whether it's a bingo game, a church service or a movie — I have to arrive early and get a good seat. If I'm not in the front row or near a speaker, I won't be able to hear a thing. When it's time to go home, I hurry there too... but that's only because I can't wait to get back to my Perfect TV Chair™.

When I'm at home, my TV chair is my favorite spot. Whether I'm watching the news, a ball game or one of my favorite movies, the volume is always just right. All the controls are located right in the armrest, so I can easily adjust the sound. The high quality stereo speakers are right in the backrest, so no one ever has to tell me to turn the sound down like they used to.

Considering how much time I spend in my chair, I'm sure glad it's so comfortable. The foam padding is great and I can adjust the back and leg rest with the touch of a button — for an infinite number of positions. Whether I'm watching TV, reading, talking with friends or taking a nap, I can position my chair just the way I want. When it's time to get in or out — that's simple too. Another button on the remote activates the lift motor and puts me on my feet, safely and easily. There is even a handy TV tray, so I can have dinner and a movie... right in the comfort of my own home.

THE PUZZLE PAGE THAT'S FUN FOR ALL!

What your hamburger eating style reveals.

The humble burger is more popular today than ever before. Cooking shows seek the best, and home BBQ's sizzle. Take this quiz to find out what your favorite way to eat them says about you.

- 1. The bun you prefer is: (a) Soft and squishy. (b) Toasted, or a pretzel bun.
- 2. The toppings you love: (a) Cheese, lettuce, tomato that's it. (b) The works.
- 3. Do you buy packaged meat that's on sale? (a) Sometimes. (b) No must be freshly ground.
- 4. Whether it's a meat or veggie burger, you enjoy it cooked: (a) In a frying pan. (b) On an outdoor grill.
- 5. Your patty should be shaped: (a) Thin to medium. (b) Big and hefty.
- 6. Side dish you often avoid: (a) French fries. (b) Cole slaw.
- 7. Do you duplicate burgers made by TV chefs? (a) Not if it's too much trouble to put together. (b) Yes! I love new recipes.

SCORING

MOSTLY A: You're most comfortable ordering burgers in diners and pubs. Big city, cosmopolitan restaurants cramp your love of tasty down-home cooking that isn't too costly. You like to try different style burgers like sliders and even the fast-food kinds. One burger is enough for you.

MOSTLY B: You love juicy, thick, well-built burgers that spell comfort food! Trendy restaurants with expensive cuts of meat are for people with your discriminating palate. You're particular and finicky about what you eat and will not return to a place that doesn't live up to your burger expectations. You want to be indulged.

The often troubled and rarely employed father of five (four with wife Tori Spelling) labored outdoors in 100°F-plus heat in the yard of their Encino, Calif., home, hoping to raise fast cash by selling their old stuff. They even advertised on area lampposts with cardboard signs enticing passersby to their "Huge Yard Sale." The goods included shoppers perused the goods while Dean sat alone in the shade, wearing a cowboy hat. While there's no word on whether the hat was also available for purchase, it seems that the family — who rent the house for a reported $10,000 a month — can use every penny. Either that, or this was Tori's way of letting Dean know how good a father she thinks he is.

She goes by Caitlyn Jenner now, but that didn't stop her from celebrating Father's Day with the kids she sired, the stepchildren she adopted and one of her grandchildren. Caitlyn tweeted an image of herself and the family during an off-roading party in the desert. While the beaming matriarch wore a dress among her more casual family, they all wore large smiles while posing for the pic.

A Lifetime movie about a pregnant beauty who plots deadly revenge on the seemingly perfect couple who plan to adopt her baby? Sounds about right. But what set the minimally advertised Deadly Adoption — which aired June 20 — apart was it starred A-list comic actors Will Ferrell and Kristen Wiig. They played their roles 100 percent straight, which made this Lifetime flick even more ridiculous!
